

Running the application

First run the server.py file by executing command `"python3 server.py"`

Then run the client.py by executing command `"python3 client.py localhost 8487"`

Server is hosted on localhost with port number 8487.

Multiple clients can be opened with the same command

Also, to differentiate different clients enter a new name at the starting.

Additional Information

To change the host or port number of server, go into the server.py and change the two variables.

To join a room the user must currently not be in any room.

Type `"help"` in the client side to get a list of commands and the format of each.
